It's that time of year again for the annual Stamp Out Hunger food drive through the United States Postal Service. The Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive is held in all 50 states every year on the second Saturday of May: on this day, mail carriers both deliver mail and collect food donations. It is held in May because most food banks face a depletion in donations from the holiday season. Today, the Stamp Out Hunger effort is the United States' largest single-day food drive. Making a donation is easy. Customers should leave their non-perishable food donations in a bag near their mailbox on Saturday, May 12th, before their letter carrier arrives. Food collected during Saturday's drive will be donated to us here at The Selma Area Food Bank. Please help us stock our shelves and exceed our pounds from last year of 2,976. We appreciate all you do and Thank You for your generous donations.
